

of both business and government.

In partnership with the U.S. Marine established the Center for Emerging Threats 2001. The generous sponsorship of the Senate instrumental in this initiative. In short order, C in identifying a number of potential operations of potential “game changer” technology solutions. CETO, as a part of the Marine Corps Warfighting has been on the front edge of advanced concepts in distributed operations, urban reconnaissance and anti-improvised explosive device (IED) tactics.

© Copyright 2007 Potomac Institute for Policy Studies

All rights reserved. No part of this book may be reproduced by any electronic or mechanical means (including photocopying, recording, or by any information storage and retrieval) without permission.

Institute for Policy Studies